

“American corporations have begun to realize that a huge chunk of North America’s Gross National Product (GNP) is being funneled to FOREIGN DRUG companies - multinational drug syndicates based in France, Germany, etc. - through the grossly inflated price of pharmaceuticals in the United States. North America is being bled. And, big American corporations are picking up a big part of the tab in increased health costs for their employees. That means that US companies have to raise the price of their manufactured goods - which means they can’t compete in world markets with the countries that host big pharma. “Big pharma” is NOT an American business - not at all. The only thing “American” about big pharma is its being half of the word “Anti-American.” — Tim Bolen, Consumer Advocate

Chapter 12

Universal Health Care Vouchers

The treatment of chronic illness is a cash cow that has helped to create America’s most profitable corporations. Sadly, the pharmaceutical industry, the hospital industry, and health care providers share a vested interest. They all make money from you when you are ill. This has created a perversion in the free market because vastly more money can be made by treating illness than by keeping the public healthy.

The current free market forces explain why Linus Pauling has been denigrated and why the Pauling/Rath vitamin C theory has been ignored in the media. But what if your doctor made more money by keeping you well than by treating some
